

Vermont Air National Guard

A row of F-35 fighter jets is parked on a tarmac under a clear blue sky. Several ground crew members in military uniforms are visible around the aircraft, some standing near the front of the planes. The scene is brightly lit, suggesting a sunny day.

The Air National Guard is a unique military branch that offers opportunities you won't find in any other organization on the planet

Everyone has their own reason for joining - the training, the flexibility, the extra paycheck. But it's the sense of purpose, and the pride of serving your community and country, that will make you want to stay

WHO WE ARE

- The Vermont Air National Guard (VTANG) is home to the 158th Fighter Wing located in South Burlington, Vermont
- Our over 1000 members are known as the “Green Mountain Boys” and have a long history of serving our nation, beginning in 1946
- VTANG is a Guard component of the United States Airforce and the majority of our members serve in a “drill” status, meaning our Guardsmen typically serve one weekend per month and two weeks per year for Annual Training
- Annual Training often gives Airmen the opportunity to travel and train at other bases around the country and world

WHAT WE DO

- In the Air National Guard, we cultivate men and women of character. We provide a supportive learning environment, and use our experience to teach members the discipline and resilience required to achieve great things, both in the military and in civilian life
- Our goal at the Vermont Air National Guard is to remain fully mission capable at all times in order to serve our country at a moments notice. We conduct operations both locally, such as recent assistance with COVID-19 pop-up hospitals and test sites, as well as globally through deployments in support of worldwide defense operations
- VTANG offers comprehensive training in dozens of different careers that all work together to meet our mission

Serve part-time in the Vermont Air National Guard, and do it in a way that fits your life

You'll receive all the benefits of service, while achieving your career goals, pursuing your education, and continuing to meet family commitments
